The Detroit Weekly TRIBUNE
FOR 1873.
ENLARGED AND IMPROVED.

The DETROIT WEEKLY TRIBUNE, one of the oldest and most firmly established Republican newspapers of the country, has been enlarged by the addition of one column to each of its pages, and is now a Fifty-six Column newspaper, and one of the Largest Weekly Publications in the North West.

This marked increase in its size and therefore, in the amount and variety of its contents, is not accompanied with any increase in its subscription price; which remains at the old figures of $2.00 for single subscriptions, or $1.50 for subscriptions in clubs of twenty or more, or five papers for $9.00, or ten for $16.00.

Will M. Carleton,
The famous "Farm Ballad" Poet, is a regular contributor to its columns, and during 1873 will furnish a New series of "Farm Ballads," written especially for The Tribune. This fact will be learned with pleasure by the thousands who have read with such rare delight his "Betsey and I are Out," "Out of the Old House Nancy," etc.

The Detroit weekly Tribune is also a carefully edited journal, which publishes in compact form all the news of the day, Foreign and Domestic; which is especially attentive to all matters possessing a Michigan interest; which gives full and accurate Commercial Reports; and which presents to its readers a large range of choice literary and miscellaneous selections. Its Agricultural department is under the charge of an experienced and practical editor, and furnishes an increasingly popular medium for the interchange of opinions and facts among its subscribers.

The present circulation of the Weekly Tribune exceeds that of the combined weekly editions of all the other Detroit political journals, and will undoubtedly be greatly increased during the coming year.

It is published on the new four-cylinder rotary press of the Tribune establishment, which is the only one of the kind in Michigan.

There's Danger in the Town.

BY JOHN M. YATES.

There! John, hitch Dobbin to the post; come near me, I sit down; Your mother wants to talk to you before you drive to town; My hair is gray, I soon shall be at rest within the grave; Not long will mother pilot you o'er life's tempestuous wave.

I've watched o'er you from infancy till now you are a man, And I have always loved you as a mother only can;

At morning and at evening I have prayed the God of love To bless and guide my darling boy to the bright home above.

A mother's eye is searching, John; old age can't dim its sight, When watching o'er an only child to see if he does right; And very lately I have seen what has aroused my fears; And made my pillow hard at night, and moistened it with tears.

I've seen a light within your eye, upon your cheeks a glow; That told me you were on the road that leads to shame and woe; Oh! John, don't turn away your head, and on my counsel frown; Stay more upon the dear old farm; there's danger in the town.

Remember what the poet says—long years have proved it true— That "satan finds some mischief still for idle hands to do;" If you live on in idleness, with those who love the bow of sin; You'll dig yourself a drunkard's grave and wreck your deathless soul.

Your father, John, is growing old; his days are nearly through; Oh! he has labored very hard to save the farm for you; But it will go to ruin soon, and poverty will frown; If you keep hitching Dobbin up to drive into the town.

Your prospects for the future are very bright my son— Not many have your start in life when they are twenty-one; Your star, that shines so brightly now, in darkness will decline; If you neglect your mother's words, and tarry at the wine.

Turn back, my boy, now, in your youth; stay by the dear old farm; The Lord of Hosts will save you, with his powerful right arm; Not long will mother pilot you o'er life's tempestuous wave— Then light her pathway with your love, down to the silent grave.

—Buckeye Democrat.

Rich Men of New York.

There are some very wealthy men in New York City. William B. Astor, Cornelius Vanderbilt and A. T. Stewart, are supposed to be worth over $50,000,000 each. Daniel Drew is variously estimated, and is generally believed to be the possessor of at least $40,000,000. He is a very liberal giver toward the interests of the Methodist denomination, of which church he is an earnest, if not a consistent member. He is much dreaded in Wall street, where he operates occasionally, to the great destruction of small capitalists. Jay Gould is figured up to $15,000,000 by the knowing ones, and H. N. Smith, too, is reported at about $10,000,000; still, these figures might be difficult to authenticate. The two brothers Stewart, who commenced life in New York as candy peddlars, are presumed to be worth from four to five millions each. So we see that sugar refining is a profitable business. George Law is supposed to be the possessor of over six millions of dollars. The bankers, Brown Brothers, are set down at fully $12,000,000 each, and Peter Cooper at nearly $5,000,000. Horace B. Claffin, of the firm of H. B. Claffin & Co., the second largest dry goods establishment in town, has an individual property valued at from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000. He is a native of New England, and has the appearance and bearing of a genuine "Yankee." He is much more popular than his rival, A. T. Stewart, and seems to be a man of much broader sympathies and more generous instincts. Abiel A. Low, long the President of the Chamber of Commerce, and the great tea importer, has a very long purse full of sequins. He may be set down in figures at $6,000,000 or $7,000,000, and this is rather an under, than an over estimate. E. F. Jeffrey, the Broadway importer, is of Scotch extraction, and rich as a Jew. No one knows the exact extent of his worldly goods, though it is presumed they would represent in cash $1,000,000 or $3,000,000 to $6,000,000. It is estimated that there are some 200 citizens of the metropolis worth over $1,000,000 each.

Singularities Between two Brothers.

Some years ago two brothers left their home Illinois and came to California. The elder was a man of the most sterling habits, who had received a thoroughness education in his native State and had made up his mind to spend in the new country he had chosen. The other was inclined to be dissipated, and had figured in so many scenes at home that he stood in very bad repute in his village. The brothers lived together for some time in San Francisco, but both looked for situations. The younger brother, however, fell into company and bad habits, and after months they separated by mutual consent. The elder obtained a situation in a wholesale store as porter, and his diligence and steadiness soon won himself into the confidence of his employers. Of his brother he saw little. One day a note reached him from a wild relative, who was then confined in the city prison on a charge of petit larceny. He hailed him out, and employed counsel to defend him. Through circumstances entirely evident the prisoner had committed the crime, yet the actual proof was so meager, that in his trial at the municipal court he was acquitted. The elder brother now renounced the criminal alter, and until Christmas eve they had met for nearly ten years. Advanced rapidly in the esteem of his employers the industrious young man soon found himself in the receipt of a good salary and gradually rose to a partnership in the firm which he had entered a store porter. He purchased a house on Bush street, married a lady with considerable fortune of her own, and last Christmas saw three beautiful children around him to enjoy the joys of the Christmas tree. That night the family retired about midnight. Toward two o'clock in the morning a gentleman heard a noise below stairs, and moving quietly out of bed, sat at the head of the stairs to assure himself that his suspicions of burglarizing in the house were correct. A gleam of a candle in the parlor awoke him, and returning to his bedroom arming himself, he crept down stairs to capture the thief. He had proceeded so cautiously that the burglar is not aware of any one stirring in the household, and when he reached a parlor door he saw a man endeavoring to pry open the buffet where he kept his silver. Leveling his revolver, the thief, he shouted, "stop, or you are a dead man," and he had the burglar completely at his mercy.

The Tweed Jury Disagree.

New York Feb. 1.—In the Tweed case the jury came into court at half past 10 o'clock this morning, when the foreman announced that they could not possibly agree, and they were accordingly discharged.

There was an immense gathering to hear the result. After the announcement by the foreman that he thought they could not agree, Judge Davis expressed a desire to hear from the others as to the probability of their agreement. Another juror then said that the jury were of the same mind since 11 o'clock last night, and there was no prospect of an agreement. Mr. Peckham, for the prosecution, then addressed the court, applying for another trial forthwith. Defendant's counsel thought it would be a hardship to go over the case again now. Tweed's civil suit was set for February 17, and preparations for it was necessary. After some further argument, the court said it would decide the matter of a new trial to-morrow.

It is stated that in the poll of the jury for the third time after retiring, the vote stood 11 for acquittal and one for conviction. The dissenting juror is said to be Mr. Hazleton, who remained firm to the close, notwithstanding the efforts of the others to induce him to change. Mr. Fullerton, of the counsel for Tweed, thinks the defense have won a great and unexpected victory, and he was somewhat surprised that any of the jurymen should favor acquittal after listening to the inflammatory charge of Judge Davis. He adds that Tweed proposes to continue the fight with all the stubbornness of his nature. Wheeler H. Peckham, the counsel for the prosecution, is exceedingly mortified with the result of the trial, and strongly hints that the disagreement of the jury was secured in an illegal manner, and that the jury must have been influenced by a mercenary motive. The case will be immediately brought up for retrial and the prosecution confidently looked forward to a successful issue.

The Lightning Rod Man.

He called in all his radiant beauty and inimitable cheek. Unfortunately we were in a healthy condition, and he was not denied admittance. We knew at once that he was the lightning rod man, and we groaned in anticipation of the coming affliction. The editor, he asked, with a bow.

"No; the editor has just gone out to kill a life insurance man."

"Well I can explain the matter to you. Being a man of literary attainments, you undoubtedly take an interest in science, which in a few years has covered the earth with railroads and telegraphs, which has filled the rivers with steamboats, and the sea with floating palaces, which has found means to defy the lightning of heaven."

"We take not the slightest interest in science. We regard Robert Fulton as an impostor. Stephenson as a nuisance, Morse as an unmitigated ruffian, and think that Benjamin Franklin should have been tied to the tail of his own kite, and sent on a voyage of discovery among the thunderbolts. He it was who invented lightning rod men, the vilest men who encumber the top of the earth. A law should be at once passed giving every man in the community a right to kill a lightning rod man on sight, or nail him to the chimney and stick a lightning rod down his throat, so that the first sportive thunderbolt that should come that way should annihilate him."

"We were getting angry, but we are mild spoken in our anger. He now planted himself in a chair, as serene and calm as though we had been calling him a benefactor to the human race."

"You don't understand this lightning rod—it is the most recent invention unlike anything ever before produced. It will yet take rank with such inventions as printing, the steam engine, and the telegraph. The world will yet

Michigan as a Fruit State.

In his address before the State Pomological Society at Lansing, January 25th Col. Thompson, its President, in the course of his remarks on the fruit growing of Michigan, said: "The question is not about Michigan fruit, for that is settled; but the question is, shall Michigan be the fruit State? I will read you a letter signed H. G. Wells, and dated Kalamazoo, January 7th, in which he writes as follows:

"I gladly desire that the State Pomological Society shall be placed on a permanent foundation. The fruit interest of the State of Michigan is assuming importance, in a commercial point of view, scarcely second by that of any other product, and within ten years or people will be relied on for supplies in this line all over the world, to a greater extent than the people of any other State in the Union."

You see what is needed to make Michigan a great Pomological State? First, Organization. This means a Society in every town. It means such meetings as we shall have here next week. Next, we need intelligence. This means a college and the press. We need information as to draining, planting, marketing, and the best varieties. It is a business to be studied. Young men and young women should make this a special study. This business should be conducted as a specialty as it is along the lake shore. We must have men trained from their youth up to this pursuit. I ask parents to direct this. I ask young men to do it. It has been looked upon as a business for men in the down hill of life. This is a great mistake. The reports we have, thanks to the generosity of the State. We need illustrations in our next report, and these will cost $100. We are accused of going to other States for our Entomology. We are obliged to go there. But we are just as competent to teach Entomology here. I wrote to the secretary of the State, and he says it must be referred to the Legislature. Now let us have that $100 and we can have these illustrations. We ought to have the insects, fruits, and the flowers of Michigan illustrated. What a book that would be to bring immigrants! We must have men in our own State. New York and Illinois authors cannot write about Michigan."

We follow this pursuit for the pleasures of the calling, that we may erect a beautiful and noble commonwealth. It is not for the present. It is for the century ahead, that we may have homes that are replete with every comfort and natural luxury. It is this that you are starting to accomplish and for this your memory shall be cherished, because you have done your mite for the advancement of human kind.

"Well I can explain the matter to you. Being a man of literary attainments, you undoubtedly take an interest in science, which in a few years has covered the earth with railroads and telegraphs, which has filled the rivers with steamboats, and the sea with floating palaces, which has found means to defy the lightning of heaven."

"We take not the slightest interest in science. We regard Robert Fulton as an impostor. Stephenson as a nuisance, Morse as an unmitigated ruffian, and think that Benjamin Franklin should have been tied to the tail of his own kite, and sent on a voyage of discovery among the thunderbolts. He it was who invented lightning rod men, the vilest men who encumber the top of the earth. A law should be at once passed giving every man in the community a right to kill a lightning rod man on sight, or nail him to the chimney and stick a lightning rod down his throat, so that the first sportive thunderbolt that should come that way should annihilate him."

"We were getting angry, but we are mild spoken in our anger. He now planted himself in a chair, as serene and calm as though we had been calling him a benefactor to the human race."

"You don't understand this lightning rod—it is the most recent invention unlike anything ever before produced. It will yet take rank with such inventions as printing, the steam engine, and the telegraph. The world will yet

Michigan as a Fruit State.

In his address before the State Pomological Society at Lansing, January 25th Col. Thompson, its President, in the course of his remarks on the fruit growing of Michigan, said: "The question is not about Michigan fruit, for that is settled; but the question is, shall Michigan be the fruit State? I will read you a letter signed H. G. Wells, and dated Kalamazoo, January 7th, in which he writes as follows:

"I gladly desire that the State Pomological Society shall be placed on a permanent foundation. The fruit interest of the State of Michigan is assuming importance, in a commercial point of view, scarcely second by that of any other product, and within ten years or people will be relied on for supplies in this line all over the world, to a greater extent than the people of any other State in the Union."

You see what is needed to make Michigan a great Pomological State? First, Organization. This means a Society in every town. It means such meetings as we shall have here next week. Next, we need intelligence. This means a college and the press. We need information as to draining, planting, marketing, and the best varieties. It is a business to be studied. Young men and young women should make this a special study. This business should be conducted as a specialty as it is along the lake shore. We must have men trained from their youth up to this pursuit. I ask parents to direct this. I ask young men to do it. It has been looked upon as a business for men in the down hill of life. This is a great mistake. The reports we have, thanks to the generosity of the State. We need illustrations in our next report, and these will cost $100. We are accused of going to other States for our Entomology. We are obliged to go there. But we are just as competent to teach Entomology here. I wrote to the secretary of the State, and he says it must be referred to the Legislature. Now let us have that $100 and we can have these illustrations. We ought to have the insects, fruits, and the flowers of Michigan illustrated. What a book that would be to bring immigrants! We must have men in our own State. New York and Illinois authors cannot write about Michigan."

We follow this pursuit for the pleasures of the calling, that we may erect a beautiful and noble commonwealth. It is not for the present. It is for the century ahead, that we may have homes that are replete with every comfort and natural luxury. It is this that you are starting to accomplish and for this your memory shall be cherished, because you have done your mite for the advancement of human kind.

The Tweed Jury Disagree.

New York Feb. 1.—In the Tweed case the jury came into court at half past 10 o'clock this morning, when the foreman announced that they could not possibly agree, and they were accordingly discharged.

There was an immense gathering to hear the result. After the announcement by the foreman that he thought they could not agree, Judge Davis expressed a desire to hear from the others as to the probability of their agreement. Another juror then said that the jury were of the same mind since 11 o'clock last night, and there was no prospect of an agreement. Mr. Peckham, for the prosecution, then addressed the court, applying for another trial forthwith. Defendant's counsel thought it would be a hardship to go over the case again now. Tweed's civil suit was set for February 17, and preparations for it was necessary. After some further argument, the court said it would decide the matter of a new trial to-morrow.

It is stated that in the poll of the jury for the third time after retiring, the vote stood 11 for acquittal and one for conviction. The dissenting juror is said to be Mr. Hazleton, who remained firm to the close, notwithstanding the efforts of the others to induce him to change. Mr. Fullerton, of the counsel for Tweed, thinks the defense have won a great and unexpected victory, and he was somewhat surprised that any of the jurymen should favor acquittal after listening to the inflammatory charge of Judge Davis. He adds that Tweed proposes to continue the fight with all the stubbornness of his nature. Wheeler H. Peckham, the counsel for the prosecution, is exceedingly mortified with the result of the trial, and strongly hints that the disagreement of the jury was secured in an illegal manner, and that the jury must have been influenced by a mercenary motive. The case will be immediately brought up for retrial and the prosecution confidently looked forward to a successful issue.

The Lightning Rod Man.

He called in all his radiant beauty and inimitable cheek. Unfortunately we were in a healthy condition, and he was not denied admittance. We knew at once that he was the lightning rod man, and we groaned in anticipation of the coming affliction. The editor, he asked, with a bow.

"No; the editor has just gone out to kill a life insurance man."

"Well I can explain the matter to you. Being a man of literary attainments, you undoubtedly take an interest in science, which in a few years has covered the earth with railroads and telegraphs, which has filled the rivers with steamboats, and the sea with floating palaces, which has found means to defy the lightning of heaven."

CITY CHARTER

A committee of three, appointed by the Common Council of this city, is nearly ready to report favorably upon such changes to the City Charter as may be considered for the interests of the citizens.

We hope an effort will be made to make intelligible the jargon of language that occurs in our Charter relative to Justices of the Peace. No one could easily perform the task of making the English language more ridiculous than appears in that sentence of our Charter authorizing the election of such officers.

There should be some legislation relative to our Schools and Library, an equalization of expense incurred in sustaining them throughout the district which cannot be done under the present arrangement of assessing property in town and city, the city supporting the school by heavy tax upon her cash valuation, while the town is gallantly doing her part upon a merely nominal valuation, about one-tenth. We would suppose that the people of the town to be satisfied with such an arrangement, but we learn they are not; they claim that with their low valuation, they pay school-tax enough to support a good school of their own, and would therefore favor a separation.

Now if our good friends of the town cannot even sip with us the pleasures of city extravagance without threatening to secede, what must be their opinion of us poor mortals who have to take the main draught?

Evidently our school needs reforming, and the duty of the tax payer would require him to see that all illegal expenses, not absolutely necessary, should be for the future abolished, and our Charter needs to give the city some acknowledgement over our School and Library.

We would also argue to abolish the Board of Review, and in lieu thereof, would urge the election, by the people of one Assessor for each ward, who with the Supervisor, shall constitute a Board of Assessment and Equalization, for the city; also to repeal the clause relating to senior Aldermen being Mayor pro tem, and give the Council authority to elect a President whose duty it shall be to act as mayor pro tem.

We can see no reason why an Alderman of the First ward should take precedent over the Aldermen of the Second ward; it is an arbitrary distinction, not Democratic in tendency, and of no benefit whatever.

MANUFACTURERS.

The people of Centerville, in this State, seeing the necessity of securing manufactories in their thriving town, have organized themselves into a stock company, for the purpose of raising funds to encourage capitalists to invest in manufacturing enterprises; and for that purpose, they pledge a location and $3,000 to any company who will invest $25,000 in their town for the purpose of manufacturing; also $5,000 and location to any company who will invest $50,000 in such an enterprise.

Already they have secured a company who take the first prize, with a prospect that the second one will soon be taken. The people of that thriving town evidently mean business, and with such substantial tokens of public energy, are bound to succeed.

Holland can afford to follow suit, if the citizens are desirous of securing such advantages as are calculated to add largely to their wealth and future growth. Shall it be done?

CORRESPONDENCE.

Mr. Editor, DEAR SIR:—Allow me privilege to reply to a strange communication under the signature of K. Schaddelee, in the last issue of De Hollander. Mr. Schaddelee being a member of the Council, sat during the reading of the proposed amendments to our City Charter, last Friday evening, without opening his mouth for or against said amendments, only saying at the close of the session, that he did not comprehend the matter at all. Now who has been enlightening this able alderman from the First Ward, upon the subject he could not understand last Friday night, "as it were"? His admissions seemed truthful at the time of making them, and no one present but believed them. By this, his flaming bill of rights, he places himself before the people as one familiar with the interests of the Council and the proposed amendments, while to his associates in the Council he held the contrary. I argue from this, that one of two things is proved, first, that he is quibbling with truth as far as the people are concerned, or second; that he is cowardly in the Council by not denouncing the measure as he has right, and it was his duty so to do. If it will bring peace to his troubled "spirit" I would ask that inasmuch as the senior alderman of the first ward will be (in absence of the mayor) mayor pro tem, that the proposed amendment giving the Council privilege of electing a presiding officer from their own body who shall preside in the absence of the Mayor, be stricken from the proposed amendment, so that this grim guardian of a sacred trust, be allowed to sit with the honors which would so fittingly crown him (in his own estimation) as Mayor pro tem so that if he fails to grasp the situation that he now reaches for, he would have the shadow to fall back upon. (Oh, ambition!) Hope has written our Kommer's name high upon the roll of honor. Truth has seen the hand-writing on the wall, and fain would draw her attention thereto. But know thou that whom the "Gods would destroy, they first make mad". "Angus."

THE ALDINE.

The Aldine for February is in every respect equal to the sanguine expectations excited by the January number of this remarkable periodical, of which each issue appears to be the climax until its successor appears. The opening illustration is a magnificent full page by J. D. Woodward, of Ponceon Run Falls, which is certainly one of the most delightful pictures which it is possible to conceive. Further on we have three smaller illustrations by the same artist, the whole being illustrative of an article on Virginia scenery, with special reference to the beauties of the Blue Ridge. Mr. Woodward, as a draughtsman, certainly will rank with Thos. Morgan, and we shall always regard the specimens of his exquisite taste in landscape as among the foremost attractions which the shrewdness and tact of the publishers offer the patrons of The Aldine. "An Attack in the Rear," by G. J. Brown, a snowballing sketch, is worthy of that eminent artist's reputation, and it is in the exhibition of work from the pencils of the first painters in the country, that The Aldine is justifying the highest expectations of its friends. "Bust," by Wm. M. Cary, is a powerful delineation of a catastrophe on the plains, and the correct detail shows that this artist is no novice in the experiences of Western frontier life. The other cuts are all good and of interest scarcely inferior to those we have especially noticed. The literature of the present number leaves nothing to be desired in the way of excellence and variety. It opens with "Ebenezer Elliott," a gossip paper about that manly old poet, by January Searle; a second paper of the same sort is "Define Gay Girardin," a translation from the Spanish of Enill Castelar, by Helen S. Conant. The stories are "Giver a Cab in Table," by Hiram Rich, and "The Garden of God," by Charlotte Peters. Besides, there are several miscellaneous papers, as "The Old Dominion," appropriate to Mr. Woodward's illustrations; "Lingering Superstitions," by Charles Dawson Shanly; "Mosses and Lichens," by W. W. Bailey; "A Castle in the Rhine," "Snow" and "Poetic Children." Music Art and Literature receive their due attention, this department of The Aldine being very ably filled. The Poems are "Peradventure," by Julia C. R. Dorr; "A Tartar Song," by Henry Richards; "Up in the trees," by John Sydney, and "Bust," by the editor, who evidently believes that some things can be done as well as others. It is written in dialect, which he handles with great skill and power, and will cause a sensation. $5.00 per year with premium Oil Chromos "Village Belle" and "Crossing the Moor," 14x20 inches. THE SOUTH HAVEN POMOLOGICAL SOCIETY.

At the last meeting of the Pomological Society at South Haven the question of what effect the severe cold winter would have upon the peach trees was discussed at some length. The South Haven Sentinel gives a full report of the meeting. We clip that portion relating to peaches from its columns. It will be read with interest by those engaged in fruit-growing:

FRUIT PROSPECTS FOR NEXT SEASON. After the minutes of the last meeting had been read and approved, reports of the different fruit districts of the State were called for. Mr. J. P. Thompson, of Grand Rapids, read extracts of letters from George Parmelee, of Old Mission, in the Grand Traverse district. No greater cold had been experienced than eight below zero. The peach crop for next season looked promising.

Mr. Walters, of Spring Lake, in the Ottawa district, reported that the thermometer fell during the cold snap to about 14 or 16 degrees below zero. He had examined the spring buds and found only a few injured. He had brought with him a quantity of buds, and on motion of Mr. Bradford, of Ada Kent county, a committee was ordered to be appointed to examine these, as well as any others that might be brought by gentlemen.

Mr. H. E. Bidwell, of Van Buren County, reported the Early Crawford and Smock tree varieties were comparatively unharmed, and he anticipated a good crop peaches the coming season. The morning of December 22d was the coldest of the season, when the thermometer marked from 10 1/2 to 16 degrees below zero.

Mr. Gregory, of Pine Grove, said that he lived 18 miles from Lake Michigan, at an altitude of 150 feet above the lake. On the morning of the 22d, at 7 o'clock, the mercury marked 13 degrees below zero. He thought that the majority of the buds were uninjured, and he anticipated a good crop of fruit. Two old trees were the worst injured. Mr. Nowlan, of Berrien County, stated that the mercury fell on Decemr 22d, as marked by his thermometer, Benton Harbor, to 22 degrees below zero. Others indicated not so low. The buds at St. Joseph promised a good crop of peaches. He thought the seven-eighths of the perfect buds had been destroyed. Benton Harbor, he thought would market next season 600 baskets of peaches.

Mr. Holt, of Kent county, thought that on his place, which was low ground last year's growth of wood on peach-trees had been killed by the frost. Other kinds of fruit were uninjured.

Mr. Husted, of Kent county, thought that in his section sixths of the peach buds had been killed, yet he anticipated a good crop of fruit. The others varieties of fruit were uninjured. The thermometer at 10 o'clock in the morning of December 24th stood at 24 degrees below zero.

Mr. Bradford, of Kent County reported the mercury on to 40 below on the 24th. Where the thermometer went so low that he did not expect any of last year's wood peach trees was alive. His grapes were also all killed. His vines were about 150 feet from Grand River.

Mr. Fuller, of Grand Rapids, said that at 4 o'clock a.m. on the 24th, no mercury was to be seen the thermometer tube. Mr. Suttle, of Grand Rapids, said that 8 o'clock the thermometer marked 35 degrees below. I thought that the peach buds were injured on the 22d, when the thermometer was only 16 below, because of the excessive wind that prevailed.

Prof. Cook, of the Agricultural College, reported that the coldest cold experienced at the college was 32 degrees below zero. Persons (this Ingham) and Shiawassee County had reported to him that their fruit was comparatively uninjured. He expressed the belief that severe cold without wind was not so injurious as wind storm. His observations also lead him to believe that the insects had not been killed by the cold.

Prof. Beal, of the Agricultural College, reported that his thermometer at his residence in South Haven, on the morning of December 24th was 38 below zero.

Mr. Sneathan, of Ionia county, reported his peach trees killed.

The above reports we made previous to the cold snap of J. 28 and 29th.

THE NEW SENSORS.

The United State Sensors recently elected are: Lewis V. By in place of F. P. Blair in Missouri; P. Morton to succeed himself in Indiana; Simon Cameron to succeed himself in Pennsylvania; Timothy O. Hise to succeed himself, in Wisconsin; Iscoe Conklin to succeed himself, in New York; Richard J. Oglesby to succeedyman Trumbull, in Illinois; John H. Jones to succeed James W. Nye, in Nevada; Pinchback, elected by the Cust-house Legislature, to succeed Kellog in Louisiana; George E. Spencer, elected by the Court House Legislature, to succeed himself in Alabama; W. S. Dorsey elected to succeed B. F. Re, in Arkansas; Merrimon, elected to succeed John Pool, in North Carolina; Patterson to succeed F. A. Sawyer, in North Carolina. The political changes are an administration Republican Oglesby in place of a Liberal (Trumbull) in Illinois; and a Democrat (Merrimon) in place of an administration Republican (Pool) in North Carolina.

Sewing machine patentees are swarming at Washington, urging an extension of the patents which have enabled them to reap immense profits. While sewing machines are made the United States and freighted to Europe and sold at low prices, the people of this country are made to pay at least one-half more than they are sold for across the water. There is now a patent upon the principle of the sewing machine and if the patents on the improvements are not extended, and manufacturers are relieved of the immense royalties which they are compelled to pay, the price of this now indispensable article will be greatly reduced. It is not the manufacturer that is demanding the extension of the patents, but the rich patentees, who have already become gorged with the profits of their little improvements, and who are amply able to pay almost any price for legislation which will enable them to reap still larger harvest in the future. We trust that Congress will not grant an extension to any one of them, so that this invaluable article may be placed within the reach of many of our poorer people who cannot now spare the means to procure one.

A sixth Atlantic cable is in contemplation in England. The proposed line is from Liverpool to New York direct, 3,200 miles, and the estimated expense is $5,000,000. The money has already been subscribed for a new French cable, which will be 600 miles shorter, and is to possess a carrying capacity of 27 words per minute, which is said to be double that which can be obtained by a single direct line of 3,200 miles, the ascertained fact being that after the first 1,000 miles the resistance of the cable is immensely increased.

F. & A. M.

There will be a regular communication of the F. & A. M. on Wednesday evening February 12, at their Hall in this city...

I. O. O. F.

Holland City Lodge, No. 192, meets every Tuesday evening, at 7 1/2 o'clock, in Odd Fellow's Hall, on Eighth street.

Holland, February 8, 1873

Local News.

The salutation now-a-days is, how is your cough?

Stop that cough, by the use of MARSH'S COUGH SYRUP; price 35 cts. 50-52

SUSPENDED.—The firm of H. J. Pessink & Bro. have suspended business, owing to incompatibility of ideas existing in the firm.

The Banking office of N. Kenyon has been moved into the new building on the corner of Eighth and River streets, next to Wm. Van Putten's Drug Store.

Webb & Brother, Jackson, Mich., Jan. 17, 1873, "Send us 30 doz. DR. BENJAMIN'S CORDIAL." For sale by all druggists. H. WALSH, Prop'r. 50-52

Edwin Booth, the great American tragedian, is to appear in his favorite character of "Hamlet," before a Muskegon audience, on Friday evening, February 14th.

The case of the people vs. Leander Butterfield and wife, upon charge of rape committed at Zeeland, was tried at Grand Haven this week, and convicted, sentence not yet passed.

OYSTERS.—J. M. Wise, wholesale and retail dealer in Fish, Oysters and Game No. 27 Monroe street, opposite the Rathbun House, Grand Rapids, Mich., sells Select Oysters at 30 & 40 cents per can. 50-51

An improvement is about to take place in the Phoenix Hotel. The bar is to be removed from the house to the building adjoining, which has been rented by Messrs. Ryder & Taylor, for a saloon. The Phoenix will flourish under its new regime.

We are privately informed that several nice young men, not out of their teens, are in the habit of meeting clandestinely, and wagering ten cents to a quarter, on the turn of the cards. Who is the winner?

T. V. Wainright, (mail agent between Holland and Ventura), says, "MARSH'S COUGH SYRUP saved the life of my child last week, in a severe case of Croup; have used for three years, in cases of Coughs and Colds, and never knew it to fail." 50-52

Our neighbors at Grand Haven have organized a company for the manufacture of gas. We learn that the stock has all been subscribed, and that work will commence early in the spring, that the streets may be lighted with gas by midsummer.

The good people of our sister town, St. Joseph, are agitating the question of securing an increase of taxation, through the working of a City Charter. Allegan is also troubled with the same disease. A few years of City Charter will cure them all, or we are no prophet.

We saw quite a large number of Odd Fellows in this city last Tuesday, and wondered what the matter was. We presume their mission was a peaceable one, as we have heard of no infractions against the peace and dignity of the people etc. We hope to see them again.

We learn that 40 feet front by 80 feet deep of the lot, corner of Eighth and Cedar streets has been sold to parties from Albany, N. Y., and that a brick block is to be erected thereon early next season, for a large clothing and millinery establishment.

Stekete & Kimm, of Grand Rapids, Mich., write, Jan. 14, 1873, "Send us 6 doz. MARSH'S COUGH SYRUP and 3 doz. DR. BENJAMIN'S CORDIAL; the Cough Syrup is the very best in the United States" Jan. 25, they write, "Send us at once, per Express, doz. MARSH'S COUGH SYRUP, sold 3 doz. at retail this week." 50-52

One dose MARSH'S COUGH SYRUP will cure tickling in the throat. Try it; price 35 cts. 50-52

Mrs. Isaac Fairbanks says, "I have used MARSH'S COUGH SYRUP for Croup and Whooping Cough, and never knew it to fail." 50-52

We noticed one day this week, five dressed hogs at the Mich. Lake Shore Depot, whose total weight was 2,000 pounds, an average of 400 pounds each, raised and fattened in Statesland, a pretty good showing from one pen.

We notice that our livery man, John Alberti, has just purchased a two hundred dollar sleigh, a perfect beauty in style and finish, and that our young folks have been enjoying its comfort hugely, for the past week.

Many persons are troubled with a disease similar to the epizootic, MARSH'S COUGH SYRUP will cure them. 50-52

We understand that a petition signed by the members of Eagle Fire Company, No. 1, will be presented to the Common Council, praying that a new Fire Engine may be purchased for the use of the city; they deeming the old one of but little use. What is the use of a new Engine without a supply of water?

FIRE AT THREE RIVERS.—Tuesday night, the 28th ult, a fire broke out in the millinery and dress goods establishment of R. O. Shively, burning several buildings, with a loss of about $25,000. Although an expensive fire was raging, the people suffered with the extreme cold. The thermometer, the Reporter says, averaged from 30 to 32 degrees below zero.

We have received the prospectus of the Muskegon Gazette and Bulletin, a relic of the Muskegon Enterprise, which has at last succumbed, and passed into other hands. The Gazette and Bulletin we hope will be more of a success, financially, and politically, than has the Enterprise. It is to be edited and published by Levi Beardsley, who has for some time past had charge of the Enterprise, and who made it a very readable paper.

G. J. Haverkate says, "I have used MARSH'S COUGH SYRUP for fifteen years, and I think it the best Cough Syrup in the world." 50-52

The Cottage Monthly for January is on our Table, and deserves careful reading and hearty commendation. Its well chosen stories are selected from our best publications, and we are surprised and glad to note that a magazine so low priced can furnish such excellent matter. Its price—only 50 cents per year—places it within the reach of even schoolboys, and the money paid for this monthly is well spent. Address Reade, Brewster & Co. 142 La Salle Street Chicago.

THE COLD SNAP.—The third cold snap came upon us just after we had succeeded in satisfying ourselves that we were on favorable ground. The November cold snap left us with no doubts as to the security of the peach buds. The cold weather of December, which showed a great decline in mercury, somewhat cooled our ideas and encouraged fears as to the safety of the peach germ. After a few days the buds were again examined, and were still found to be in a healthy condition, at least enough to secure a good crop of fruit, nothing else happening; taking courage, we for the second time announced the fruit prospects as good. But just as we had got to feeling good, Jack Frost paid us another visit, and did his best to convince us that the seasons were not all summer and sunshine, and that fruit is not a luxury that can always be relied upon.—Perhaps some of the more hardy varieties of peach may live through, but what would fruit be good for that can survive such a freeze as was given us on the 28th and 29th of January last, with the thermometer indicating 20 to 25 degrees below zero? We give it up, we don't want any such fruit as can pass through such an ordeal; it would be poor worthless trash, we would prefer our trees to be growing for a more luscious crop next season. The Grand Haven Herald will perhaps insist upon fruit for next season; and we shall endeavor to secure our supply from there. Our fruit will be non-cou at a bus from frost. We have not received any reports of the snap from the Michigan fruit belt, from the fact, we suppose that the mercury sunk so low that the fruit man was unable to see it; such incidents have occurred before, within the peach belt, since our recollection.

ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday of this week, as the Saugatuck stage, loaded with passengers, was passing down 8th street, some one called it to return a short distance. In attempting to turn around in the street, the sleigh upset, leaving the passengers in various positions on the street and sidewalk. One, a little child belonging to John Nies, was thrown against the sidewalk in such a manner as to make a large wound over the eye, baring the bone nearly half as large as a man's hand. The child is lying in a critical condition, although hopes are entertained of its recovery. None of the others were seriously injured.

IS COMING.—Dr. Barth, of the firm of Dr. Barth & Co., office No. 93 Monroe street, Grand Rapids, where they have performed some of the most remarkable cures, will be in Holland, at the Aina House, Wednesday and Thursday, February 12th & 13th, also on the second Thursday of each month thereafter, where he can be consulted for the successful treatment of Cancer, Asthma, Deafness, Blindness, Dropsy, Fits, Old Sores, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, all diseases of the Blood and Nerves, Bowels, Kidneys, Bladder, Liver, Throat, Heart, Lungs, and all diseases of women; all Chronic, and diseases of a Private Nature successfully treated. Reference to some of the most prominent persons in Grand Rapids who have been cured by Dr. Barth, after being given up by other physicians. Can be seen at Dr. Barth's rooms, at the Aina House, Wednesday and Thursday, February 12th & 13th. Consultations and Examinations Free, at the office and rooms.

STATE OF MICHIGAN: The Circuit Court for the County of Ottawa in Chancery.

BETTIE A. BACON, Complainant,

vs. GEORGE BACON, Defendant.

At a Session of said Court, held at the city of Grand Haven, in said county, on the 4th day of February, A. D., 1873—Present, Hon. A. H. Giddings, Circuit Judge.

In this cause, it appearing from affidavit on file, that the defendant, George Bacon, left his place of residence, in Ionia, Ionia County, in said State, sometime in February, A. D., 1873, and that the said defendant has continued to remain away from his said residence, and his whereabouts since the last named date being unknown, and that service of subpoena duly issued out of and under the seal of this Court, could not be personally made on the said George Bacon, by reason of his continued absence, as aforesaid. On motion of Lewis, Cross & Angel, complainant's solicitors, it is ordered that the appearance of said absent defendant be entered herein within three months from the date of this order, and in case of his appearance, he cause his answer to the bill of complaint to be filed, and a copy thereof to be served on the complainant's solicitors within fifteen days after service on him of a copy of said bill, and notice of this order, and in default thereof, said bill will be taken as confessed by said absent defendant. And it is further ordered, that within twenty days, the complainant cause a notice of this order to be published in the HOLLAND CITY NEWS, a newspaper printed, published, and circulating in said County, and that said publication be continued therein, once in each week, for six weeks in succession, or that he cause a copy of this order to be personally served on the said absent defendant, at least twenty days before the time above prescribed for his appearance.

A. H. GIDDINGS, Circuit Judge. LOWING, CROSS & ANGEL, Solicitors for Complainant. ALFRED A. TRACY, Register. Dated February 6 1873. (A true copy.) 51-3

DR. E. WOODRUFF, BOTANIC PHYSICIAN, 33 CANAL STREET. (UP STAIRS.)

WHO has for the past twelve years been located in Opers Block, has now, since being burned out, removed his stock to 33 Canal street, where he continues to give every description of ACUTE, CHRONIC and PRIVATE DISEASES, on the most reasonable terms. He manufactures all his remedies from the raw material, hence, known to be PURELY VEGETABLE. He uses NO MINERALS OR POISONS. Having prescribed for over eighteen thousand patients within the past ten years, WITHOUT LOSING ONE OF THEM, where he was the only doctor called. He guarantees reasonable satisfaction in the treatment of every disease which afflicts humanity. He keeps constantly on hand over 300 kinds of the most choice Roots, Bark and Herbs, and over 100 kinds of his own manufacture of medicines. He is to be found at his office at all hours—day or night. Among the leading articles of medicine manufactured by him are his LIVER SYRUP, COUGH SYRUP, and FEMALE RESTORATIVE; all of which give universal satisfaction. Call and consult a doctor who will promise you nothing but what he can actually perform, and will correctly locate your disease, and you a correct diagnosis of your case without asking you scarcely a question. Liver complaints treated for fifty cents per week, and other diseases in proportion. Council at the office 52-1.

INSURE WITH THE OLD "North America"

INS. Co. OF PHILADELPHIA, PA. (ESTABLISHED 1794.) Why? Because it is the oldest Ins. Co. in the United States. Because it was the first to pay its Holland losses in Ready Cash. Because it has paid over $26,000,000 losses. Because it has a surplus (over and above its debts) of more than any two Ins. Co's. in the United States. Because it has a surplus of more than five times that of all the other Ins. Co's. in the city combined. For proof, read the (Jan. 1872) Report of the Superintendent of the Insurance Department of New York. Policies issued at the Holland agency, as low as by any other responsible Company. Do not waste your money with worthless insurance but insure with the old "NORTH AMERICA" HEBER WALSH, Agt. Holland Mich. 4-30.

Dr. Bradley, of St. Louis Gratiot county was attacked by a large gray wolf, near that village, a few days since. The brute was a savage one and was evidently goaded by severe hunger. The doctor only escaped by applying the lash to his horse and putting him to his utmost speed.

How to Cook Hominy.—Wash slightly in cold water, and soak twelve hours in tepid soft water, then boil slowly from three to six hours in same water, with plenty more added from time to time, with gr. at care to prevent burning. Don't salt while cooking, as that or hard water will harden the corn. So it will peas and beans, dry or green, and rice.

A NEEDED BUT LIBERAL INVENTOR.—The Commissioner of Patents lately received the following letter from an inventor who stands in need of one thousand dollars:

JANUARY SIXTH, CINCINNATI, OHIO.
Commissioners Esqs of the patent office. DERE SIRS—If you will send me one thousand dollars Cash I will invent an improved self acting operating automaton machinery and one million—after the machine proves satisfaction if I dont accomplish it I will refund the money in ten years.

SALT LAKE, January 30.—Snow drifts on the Union Pacific Railroad, caused by the late storm, in some places are 16 feet deep. Old railroad men say the weather is the most terrible ever experienced. At Granite City Station three section hands have frozen to death. Two at Bryan, and a number of others are reported to have perished while shoveling snow off the track. Great credit is awarded to employees of the company in breaking through the blockade so speedily. Passengers suffered no hardships or inconvenience whatever. There is ten feet of snow on a level in the Little Collinwood mining district.

A gentleman who had received an official appointment went to Washington, a few days ago, with his good-looking wife, whom he had married at Christmas, and stopped at one of the hotels. While he was busy at the capitol a worthless vagabond who worked at the hotel, decoyed the wife into an elopement, and the husband's grief, which was at first most poignant, is now taking the form of gratitude to the vagabond.

A woman and her daughter died recently at New Boston, Ill., of cold and starvation, and the father and son, of the same family, were in a perishing when found. There was nothing to eat in the house and no fuel; the family all slept between two straw beds, all the couch or covering they had, and there was no clothing on the body of the mother, nor was there any to be found in the house.

TO RESTORE SCRATCHED FURNITURE.—Scrape one pound of beeswax into shavings in a pan; add half a gallon of spirits of turpentine and one pint of linseed oil. Let it remain twelve hours then stir it well with a stick into liquid; while stirring add one pound of shellac varnish and one ounce of alkanet root. Put this mixture into a gallon jar and stand it before the fire or in an oven, for a week (to keep it just warm); shake it up three or four times a day. Then strain it through a hair sieve and bottle it. Rub about a teaspoonful on a wad of baize; go lightly over the face and other parts of mahogany furniture; then rub briskly with a similar dry wad, and in three minutes it will produce a dark brilliant polish unequalled.

Another preparation may be made as follows: Make a mixture of three parts of linseed oil and one part spirits of turpentine. It not only covers the disfigured surface, but restores wood to its original color, and leaves a luster upon the surface. Put on with a woollen cloth, and when dry rub with woolen.

A German poet has lately written a touching poem, in which the hero is represented as devoured by alligators, under a palm tree, on the shore of Lake Erie. The heroine bears of the dreadful fate of her lover down in the glades of Florida, near the banks of Lake Superior, where she is living, and rushes down South to Lake Erie, and lays wait for that crocodile, captures him, cuts him open, extracts the bones of her dead lover, purchases a rich coffin, and has him interred in magnificent style in Greenwood Cemetery, in New York, in the State of St. Louis. The poem is too affecting.

Jones and his wife were always quarrelling about their comparative talent for keeping a fire. She insisted that just so surely as he attempted to rearrange the sticks with the tongs, he put the fire out. One night the church bell sounded an alarm, Jones sprang for his fige-bucket, eager to rush to the corral. "Mr. Jones," cried his wife, as he reached the door, "Mr. Jones, take the tongs."

A worthy deacon in a town somewhere or other gave notice, at a prayer meeting that the other night, of a church meeting that was to be held immediately after, and unconsciously added "There is no objection to the female brethren remaining." This reminds us of a clergyman who told in his sermon of a very affecting scene where "there wasn't a dry tear in the house."

"Doctor, what do you think is the matter with my little boy?" "Why, it's only a convulsed exegis anti-spasmodically emanating from the germ of the animal refrigerator, producing a prolific source of irritability in the pericranial epidermis of the mental profrandy." "Ah! that's what I told Betty, but she 'lowed it was wurrum."

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Bloating, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by vitiated Blood, which is produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

For the Diseases, Eruptions, Tetters, Salt Rheum, Blisters, Ring-worms, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.
